Miss Page Grymes is to have the role of Phyllis, and Pierce Brent will be Corydon, while Robert Harrison and Miss Ella Hancock will be seen as the good-natured farmer and his wife. Miss Sarah Chamberlayne, Miss Elizabeth Stiles, Walter A. Watkins and Benjamin Potter will be four "shining lights" in their perfect representations of the dairy cans, who, unlike those of fairy legend, do not remain "upon the shelf."

These principals will be assisted by Mrs. B. P. Vaden, Mrs. Thomas Adkins, Mrs. Powhatan Breeden, Misses Emily Wade, Grymes, De Graffenfeld Robertson, Ella Hancock, Chamberlayne, Ellen Smith, Nellie Lyons, Elizabeth Stiles, Margarette Quarles, Carrie Carlton, Messrs. Much interest is being taken by Richmonders in the trip, many pleasant parties being formed for the day.

Christ Episcopal Church, in Winchester, Va., was the scene of a beautiful marriage last evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Ery Tucker McGuire, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William E. McGuire, became the bride of Lieutenant Abney Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Payne. Rev. William Smith performed the ceremony.

The church was a mass of spring time color, apple blossoms and lilacs in profusion being used in decorations, covering the chancel and altar. Clusters of the flowers at the end of each pew formed a flowery aisle for the bridal party.

Stuart G. Christian, of this city, was best man, and the bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Willie Logan McGuire, who wore white satin embroidered in pearls and carried white lilacs. Randolph T. McGuire, the bride's brother; W. Nelson Page, Daniel B. Conrad, J. B. Beverly, of Winchester; E. Don Cameron, of the University of Virginia; and Dr. Henry Payne, of Charleston, W. Va.; George Y. Worthington, Jr., and Richard Stuart Hunter were the ushers. Little Misses Susan Reid Williams, of Winchester, and Frances Dana, of Charleston, W. Va., were ribbon girls in frocks of white and blue.

Miss McGuire entered the church with her father and was given in marriage by him. Her gown was of white satin and real lace, and her tulle veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms at the bandeau. Her bridal bouquet was of lilacs of the valley.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held in the home of the bride, and later Mr. and Mrs. Payne left for New York on a wedding trip, after which they will go to Fort Rodman, where they will make their home. Templeman-Barnes.
A beautiful wedding took place in the home of the Rev. Samuel Huntington Templeman, of Hamilton Va. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. James, D. D., pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. W. S. Leake.

Altar decorations were in pink and green, dark masses of palms being relieved by the brilliant blossoms of azaleas and roses. Ernest Cosby was at the organ, and played "The Angels' Serenade" during the ceremony.

Miss Julia Gay Barnes, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore pink messaline with garniture of gold lace, and carried a basket of Killarney roses. The bridesmaids—Misses Mary Myrtle Eubank and Florence Wilson, of Keyville, Va.—wore costumes of pale green messaline with silver trimmings, and carried pink sweetpeas.

After the ceremony the bridal party was tendered a reception at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Templeman left for a brief Northern tour. They will return to Virginia early in May, and a little later will go to New York to attend the Southern Baptist Convention. They will make their home in Hamilton, Va., where Mr. Templeman is pastor of the Baptist Church.

The bride is a graduate of Woman's College, of Richmond, and is well known throughout the State as a former treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist Church. Mr. Templeman is the son of Mrs. M. H. T. Templeman, of Warrenton, and the late George B. Templeman. He graduated with the master's degree at Richmond College, and later took a course at Colgate University, Hamilton, N. Y. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

Dr. Wilson Speaks at Club.
In the denunciation which Dr. James S. Wilson made of his subject, "Alfred Noyes: Poet and Works," before the Literary Round Table of the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon, a brief resume of modern English poets was made as an introduction to a somewhat interesting sketch of the life of Noyes, who though only twenty-nine years of age, has already published several volumes of verse, and is fast gaining a high rank among the living English poets of today.

Dr. Wilson's estimate of the poet was most enthusiastically received by all who heard him, and his true reading of a number of poems was especially enjoyed. His rendition of what is perhaps Noyes' finest story-poem, "The Highwayman," was most effective, as was the "Barrel Organ," followed by extracts from classical themes as "Orpheus and Eurydice" and "The Last of the Titans."

He spoke of the poet's versatility and his unusual range in poetry as illustrated in his poem "The Singing Seaman" and "The Old Skeptic," closing his talk by speaking of the simple faith and true philosophy of life as shown in his philosophical poems.

Dr. Wilson is at the chair of history of William and Mary College, and is a graduate of that institution and also of Princeton. He was the poet at the recent Poe celebration held at the University of Virginia.

Mrs. Southall, Mrs. W. A. Crenshaw, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Henry Miller were hostesses at the informal reception which followed Dr. Wilson's address, and Miss Virginia Bland, Misses Ella Wingfield and Eleanor Montgomery were guests of Mrs. C. D. Wingfield, the chairman of the afternoon.

Man's Friends Give Him Amherst by Small Majority.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] AMHERST, VA., April 28.—The contest between Judge Mann and Mr. Tucker for the Democratic nomination for Governor is warming up considerably in this county. The prevailing opinion is that Mr. Tucker will carry the county, though estimates as to his majority are at considerable variance.

Mr. Tucker's friends claim the county by from 300 to 500 majority. Most of Judge Mann's friends concede the county to Mr. Tucker, but claim that he will carry it by only a small majority. When Mr. Tucker represented the Tenth District in Congress he was always strong in Amherst county.

One hears little talk about the fight for Lieutenant-Governor or Attorney-General in this county. Colonel Robert Catlett visited the county on April court day, and made many friends while here. Four years ago Major William A. Anderson carried Amherst county by several hundred majority.

Dr. H. S. Myers will be a candidate for re-election to the House of Delegates from this county, and it is not thought that he will have any opposition.
